PUMPER CALLED TO OXFORD

A call from Oxford for the Norway pumper was received Sunday morning at 7 o'clock. Chief Giles Frost with six firemen responded promptly and made a quick run of six miles with the temperature below zero.

The first was in a two and one-half story family tenement in the built up section of the village on Main street, at Lake street corner.

Only a few men were holding the fire with pails from the mill when Norway arrived. The Norway department quickly had two lines in action under full pressure and had about 1,000 feet laid.

Such a temperature formed ice about the walls and over the firemen. This was a handicap and made work on the ladders slow and hazardous. The pumper was in action four hours and made thorough work of killing the last spark.

Some of the ladies of the village served hot coffee and doughnuts to the firemen before the return home at 6:30.

Mark Hunt has thirty guinea pigs in all colors and sizes.

Miss Emma Porter left Tuesday for Chicago, where she will spend the Christmas vacation.

Sherman Allen has taken the C. G. Blake rent on Cottage street. He is the meat cutter at the I. G. A. Store. He comes from Bethel here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Decoteau and family, 32 Fifth Street, Medford (55) Mass. sends cards to Norway friends. The Weary Club was included.

Mrs. Harry E. Crockett of New Haven, Conn., arrived at her father's, Wm. C. Lavitt's on Orchard street last Monday. She is to spend Christmas here.

At a banquet held at the Williston Academy, Friday evening, Dec. 12th, Edwin W. Smith was awarded his letter in soccer. He was the manager of the soccer squad.

Larry M. Carroll has been confined indoors for the past two weeks. He has suffered from a severe attack of cold, threatened with pneumonia. He reported at the Wearies last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Luck spent two days in Wiscasset, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Day, formerly of Norway. The men went duck hunting and Harry brought home his quota of birds.

The Barton Reading Club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. B. G. McIntire. The roll call was Christmas quotations and the reading of "The First Christmas Tree" by Henry Van Dyke.

A model of a balanced airplane built by Gordon Coffin is on exhibition at the L. Frei Pike Co. store. The plane contains 240 pieces of balsa wood and reed, put together with glue. Weight is given as 1 3-4 ounces.

Malcolm Sloan, who went to Buchanan, N. Y., last fall with his sister, Miss Leona Sloan, to attend school, is in a hospital there, sick with scarlet fever. He is getting along nicely, but they will be unable to be at home for the Christmas vacation as planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Wilson and Melvin Mayberry of South Paris, Mr. and Mrs. William Bartlett and daughters, Leah and Wilma, of Norway, were at Cresent Lake, Sunday. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Mayberry went to Portland from there to an A. & P. meeting.

A delegation of past grands from Mt. Hope Rebekah lodge went to Harrison, Friday, and joined the past grands there at a gathering at the home of Mrs. Geraldine Jackson, who, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Rosa York of Norway, served luncheon. The afternoon was devoted to sociability.

Norway Lodge, I. O. O. F., conferred the second degree on a class, Tuesday evening. Attendance was large with visitors from Denmark, Harrison, North Waterford, Lovell and South Paris. The initiatory degree will be worked next Tuesday evening.

Mount Hope Rebekah Lodge is entertaining members of Harrison Rebekah Lodge, Friday evening for supper and lodge meeting. The work will be exemplified under the new staff of officers. The new robes will be christened and the new work will be given for the first time.

Mr. and Mrs. Win Kimball of White Plains, N. Y., and summer guests of Norway, leave Dec. 19, on the Munson Liner, Managro, from New York, for a cruise to Havana, Miami and Nassau over the Christmas holiday. They expect to be in their home after Dec. 31.

The rostrum and rail at the Methodist church has been set out three feet into the auditorium, giving more space for the choir and preacher. The front seats along the front row have been removed to permit this change. Electric fixtures will be installed for the choir loft. William Hall is the carpenter in charge.

"Buddy" Huff came home from Fort Williams for a short leave of absence. On a walk up Pike's Hill, Friday afternoon he lost $7.50 in the road opposite Geo. R. Howe's house. Discovering his loss he returned to the spot, but could not find the money. Foot prints in the light fall of snow indicated somebody was a lap or two ahead of him.

The ladies of the Norway Farm Bureau held an interesting meeting for their December gathering and several articles were completed that had been started at previous meetings. Some chairs were reseated, one reed tray was made and other smaller articles received attention. At noon a square meal for health was served in charge of Mrs. Clara Pierce, Mrs. Florence Stone and Mrs. Harry Greenleaf. The next meeting, January 8th, will be the annual planning meeting for both men's and women's divisions.

What Others Say About Grove

PRAYER OF THE PINES

"This is the Forest Primeval, the murmuring pines and the hemlock,
Bearded with moss, and in garments green, indistinct in the twilight,
Stand like Druids of eld, with voices sad and prophetic.
Stand like harpers hoar, with beards that rest on their bosoms,
Loud from its rocky caverns the deep-voiced neighboring ocean
Speaks, and in accents disconsolate, answers the wail of the forest."

The above classic lines by our native poet Longfellow, one of the Immortals, contain more poetry than any similar number of lines in the English language. Substitute soft-voiced Pennesseewassee for "deep-voiced neighboring ocean" and they would describe in most sublime cadence your virgin pines in "Ordway's Grove." Aside from the trackless wastes of our far-flung Northern borders, no other settled community can boast of a tract of genuine Primeval Forest. Every individual in the town should be proud of that enviable distinction and be willing to move heaven and earth to keep intact that priceless possession!

Listen to the Prayer of the Pines and heed their impassioned plea! "O our human brothers and sisters; would we might speak with the tongues of men and of angels, so to touch your hearts, that no soulless vandal shall be permitted to invade the sanctity of our domain! For near two centuries no ruthless hand has been raised against us. Before the Paleface came, our vanishing American, the noble red man, built his wigwam dwelling from our tender saplings, and skins of the stately moose and prowling catamount. Amid our cathedral aisles he pursued the elusive deer, and on yonder placid waters dipped his light canoe; fashioned from the bark of our inseparable companions, the white birches, romantically christened by him "Bride of the Forest". Beneath our sheltering branches he smoked his pipe of peace. Here the Great Spirit planted us, to be the solace and inspiration of your revered forefathers and their posterity. You who reverence the memory of those sainted forbears, can you endure to see the woodman's ax and the torturous saw tearing at our vitals? Can you bear to see our anguished hearts torn asunder—our venerable heads laid low? Your noble state has honored us by naming the Pine Tree its distinguished emblem. Above our heads the majestic eagle, proud emblem of our peerless America, was won't to soar on lofty pinions, aspiring to the Gates of Heaven; and still, within our protecting arms, the birds of the air have nests.

Here song of thrush at eventide,
Salutes the reverent air.
And all the listening things of earth
Seem bowed in silent prayer.

Here Nature sends her incense forth
From every ancient pine,
And winds with hymns of praise are sweet
With melody Divine.

Hear our prayer, O we implore, and be true brothers and sisters to the Trees. Amen!"

—Martha Maxim.
Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Walter L. Sanborn of Lansdale, Pa., says:

"As to the grove: It should be saved. I am not suggesting you should do it, because I think you have done enough in the dam and the Weary Club, etc. I think it ought to be saved largely by the summer people, who get the most out of the lake, and I believe a substantial portion of the purchase price should be raised by a thorough and discreet canvass of them by mail. It would take pleads and follow-ups, etc., but it could be done.

"The first step should be definite assurance that it would be used as a park and that a right of way to it would be provided for. Personally, I would go the whole hog in the matter and make it a memorial to Don, who saved it once and who is by all odds Norway's most famous and gifted son. This is only my opinion, however.

"I think the above contains a workable idea and the success would depend entirely upon the skill in its execution. What do you say? You are at liberty to publish what I am writing you as to the grove, if you think it advisable."

We recently met Clarence Morton of South Paris in Ordway Grove. He was interested in the state method of measuring trees as we were. Mr. Morton said:

"It would be little else than a crime to cut these pine. They should stand to be looked upon by coming generations. If these pines were in South Paris Village Corporation it wouldn't take half a day to raise the money and save them from the ax."

E. H. Boynton of Malden, Mass., writes: "Many thanks for the printing of my letter regarding Ordway Grove. Please give me full address of Ralph M. Bacon. His name not in greater Boston telephone directory and will see if he will back up his opinion with the cold cash. Have you got a cut of the three bears? Will cost something to incorporate unless Walter Gray will do it for nothing.

"The town of Norway should abate all taxes on Ordway Grove and appropriate a sum of money to make it into a public park with a pavilion. The electric company donate all electricity needed for display, good advertising for them, and the water company furnish water for a fountain, etc.

Thieves at Work

Loot Amounted to Forty-One Cents and a Flashlight

The office at the Grand Trunk station was entered early Thursday morning by using a jimmy on the outside door. Thief or thieves secured forty-one cents in the money drawer, and Eugene Hammond's flash light, valued at $1.50. No attempt was made to force the ticket case or the safe door.

The outside door of the American Railway Express office adjoining was forced but no articles have been missed.

EPIDEMIC OF CHIMNEY FIRES

A record for chimney fires handled by the Norway department in one month is threatened to be made in December if the clip keeps up. To date the following calls have been answered and fires extinguished:

Dec. 2 Mrs. Scott Merrill's residence, Water Street.
Dec. 2 Wm. F. Jones house, Main Street.
Dec. 6 Howard Palmer's, Brown Street.
Dec. 9 Henry Bedard's, Brown Street.
Dec. 12 O. F. Whitman's, Crescent Street.
Dec. 12 Kathryn Ramsdell's, Main Street.
Dec. 13 Hiram Calef's, Marston Street.

A call, Dec. 14, from Oxford, called out the pumper and six men. The apparatus was in action four hours.

First assistant, Chas. Blacquiere calls attention to foul chimneys and funnels where wood is the fuel. He urges thorough cleaning at once to avoid the hazard of a bad fire and property loss.

NORWAY GIRL HAS PART IN M. G. H. PLAY

Miss Wilhelmina Heikkinen of Norway, a student nurse at the Massachusetts General Hospital Training School, took part in "The Twelve Pound Look", a fascinating play presented recently, by members of the dramatic club. Another play, "The Beau of Bath", appeared on the same program.

The plays were coached by Miss Ann Herzog of Kingston, N. Y., and Miss Mary Bell of Arcadia, Fla., students at the Emerson College of Oratory.

Mr. Libbie of Boston will conduct the usual spiritual meeting in American Legion Hall next Sunday evening at 7:30. There will be several new features including a vocal solo by James Combellack. Circles are held at Mrs. Arthur Tucker's on Cottage street every Thursday evening and Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Geo. Williams', Penley street, South Paris.

Donald B. Partridge has secured the playing rights of Lincoln's story, "Shavings", for the Kiwanis dramatic production, the coming year. This has a Cape Cod setting for numerous unusual characters sure to please the local theatre patrons. A cast of twelve is being selected from talent in the Twin Towns to put the play on and make it go. Harold A. Anderson will act as director and coach.

An attempt is being made to flood a section of the bog west of Main street near Tannery brook for a skating rink. Rough ground is causing something of a gamble. A spray has been used for a frozen foundation, and if this holds, flooding may proceed after the wooden banks are in place. Details will be worked out if the surface will hold, otherwise nothing more will be done toward a commercial rink.

The Daughters of Veterans met Friday evening with a large gathering for a family supper and abou 100 were seated at the tables. After supper, a program was presented to commemorate the 45th birthday of the organization. "America" and "Marching Through Georgia" were sung; several selections played on the piano and mandolin by Miss Lois Holman and Donald B. Partridge, Jr.; a short sketch was read of the birth of the Daughters. Several others numbers planned did not materialize. The business session followed and the work was exemplified. Officers for the coming year were elected. The mystery box fell to Mrs. Hattie Harvey, who will have charge of it for next meeting.

Deputies Appointed

Take Up Duties of Office the First of January

Sheriff-elect William O. Frothingham of South Paris, who will succeed Sheriff Harry O. Stimson on January 1, has appointed his deputies. Two or three are pending, namely for Bethel, Buckfield and possibly one other town. Following are the appointments:

South Paris—W. L. Frothingham and Carl McPhee.
Oxford—Walter A. Wood.
Norway—Albert A. Towne.
South Hiram—William E. Stearns.
Fryeburg—Harry K. Eastman.
East Stoneham—Albert E. Nelson.
North Waterford—Melvin F. Knight.
Wilson's Mills—Ernest S. Bennett.
Rumford—Allen J. Reed and John N. Roderick.
Mexico—Adelbert Chabot.
Dixfield—William W. Eustis.

John J. Flynn, Norway, a World War veteran and past commander of Wm. Henry Stone Post, American Legion, will serve as jailor and turnkey.

NORWAY GRANGE

A picnic dinner was served in the dining hall of Norway Grange at noon, Dec. 13th. The dinner was much enjoyed by those present.

At 1:30 Grange called to order by Worthy Master Howard Knightly. After the opening exercises including reports of secretary, treasurer and committees, officers for 1931 were elected as follows:

Master—Carlton E. Cox.
Overseer—J. Merton Wyman.
Lecturer—Adalaide Young.
Treasurer—Arthur Holman.
Secretary—Ella Perry.
Chaplain—Viola Abbott.
Steward—William F. Young.
Asst. Steward—Ernest Moores.
Ceres—Ada Cox.
Pomona—Florence Wyman.
Flora—Maude Russell.
Gate Keeper—Ray Bennett.
Lady Asst. Steward—Margaret Knightly.
Chorister—D. Arline Hunt.
Finance Com.—Edward Brown, for 1 year; Arthur Buck, 3 years.

Matters of business were discussed. Owing to the lateness of the day the program was omitted.

On Dec. 27th the Grange will hold its annual Christmas tree. The young ladies of the Grange will meet at the hall at 10 o'clock to decorate and arrange the tree. All children of the order are asked to help with the program which will be under the direction of the Lecturer, Ada Cox. Any having remembrances, gifts, etc., are asked to leave them at the hall as early as convenient.

OXFORD BOWLERS IN HOT SESSION

Four bowlers from Oxford rolled a two-man match on the alleys recently and registered a number of good individual marks. The Smith-Lapham combination carried off the game with a total of 1922 against 1868 knocked over by Durgin and Bonney.

Smith:	92	104	106	112	103	90	89	82	110	104--992
Lapham:	85	92	90	87	103	87	87	112	107	80--930
Total										1922
Durgin:	106	86	117	85	95	97	102	83	112	97--980
Bonney:	88	85	90	103	96	95	87	77	81	86--888
Total										1868

Howard L. Roberts, manager of the upper A. & P. store since it was opened a few months ago, has closed his engagement. Montie Grover is the new manager.

The Browning Reading Club was entertained for its Christmas party at the home of the hostess, Mrs. Lena Andrews, on Monday evening. The program committee was in charge. After the collect and short business meeting a Christmas story was read by Miss Dorothy Noble. A brilliantly illuminated tree loaded with exchange gifts and joke presents created amusement and excitement. Each person gave a nursery jingle or story after receiving a gift. Refreshments were served. Meeting adjourned to Dec. 19 with Mrs. Alice Fuller, the hostess.

Killed by Circular Saw

Frightened Horse Threw Waterford Man on Saw

Lewis S. Brown, aged 40, of North Waterford was instantly killed in Lovell, Saturday afternoon, when his body was nearly severed lengthwise. He fell on the circular saw of a portable wood cutting outfit during an attempt to hold a frightened horse harnessed to the wagon.

Brown was working up slabs at a mill with a portable gasoline sawing outfit and had driven his machine between two piles, leaving the horse hitched to the rigging. The animal was startled and bolted. Brown seized the reins, but lost his footing in the snow and was caught by the revolving saw.

Dr. W. B. Raymond of South Paris, county medical examiner, after a formal hearing, pronounced that death was due to accident. The remains were removed to Leroy Spiller's undertaking rooms in Norway.

The deceased was born in Albany, April 12, 1890, the son of George A. and Addie Littlefield Brown. He is survived by two sons and two daughters, Liston of Norway, Stanley, Marguerite and Agnes of Waterford. He leaves his father and one sister, Mrs. Robert Durfee, both of Bridgton.

Services conducted by Rev. W. I. Bull of North Waterford were held Tuesday afternoon at Spiller's Funeral Home. Burial was at East Stoneham.

Canadian Lynx

A. L. Richardson Caught Large One in Wild River Section

Alva L. Richardson, son of Levi Richardson of this town was here last Friday, accompanied by a Canadian Lynx. The animal got one of its front paws in a No. 3 fox trap and was easily killed.

From tip to tip it measured 5 feet, 2 inches and weighed 20 pounds. It had enormous legs and feet and stood almost two feet high. The size of its running gear was out of proportion to its weight.

Mr. Richardson and wife are the local caretakers of the Wild Game Sanctuary in the Wild River section and are located nine miles up the valley from Gilead. The have been there some four years and are liking the work.

The lynx captured will be sent to the New Hampshire Fish and Game Commission, Winthrop Parker of Concord, N. H. The state has a bounty of $20.00 on such animals, but in this instance no bounty will be paid.

Mr. Richardson says tracks of such animals are numerous in that section.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

To date the Red Cross enrollment in Norway is 127, which is very good considering business conditions. The boys of Company C, under the direction of Captain Harry L. Twitchell, made a systematic canvass, and did good work, for which the committee feels very grateful. Returns from other units of the South Oxford Chapter have been received from West Paris, with 67, Waterford with 37. Others are yet to be heard from.

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

Grades 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 gave a program in the gymnasium, Wednesday, Dec. 17. Program:

Arthur McKeen of Otisfield called at his cousin's, Mrs. Frank McAllister's, Friday.

Oxford Chapter, O. E. S., held its December meeting Tuesday evening. Following the lodge session, refreshments were served. The next meeting, Jan. 13, will be the annual meeting for election of officers. Supper will be served in charge of a committee from the men members, and there will be an entertainment.

Mrs. G. Julian Brown received this week, from her nephew, Frank C. Knapp, band leader of the 240th Coast Artillery band, the History and Year book, which is very interesting to Norway residents, as Norway's first military activities and some of the names of its military leaders are mentioned. Mr. Knapp formerly lived in Norway and a few years ago, was its band leader. The new Year Book carries a full page photo of Mr. Knapp in full uniform.

The American Legion Auxiliary entertained the members of the drama cast, that presented "The Thief in the Night", two weeks ago, for a banquet and social evening, Monday evening at the Legion Home. The decorations about the hall and at the banquet table were suggestive of Christmas. Following the banquet, four tables were filled for bridge. Raymond Evirs held high schore. There was also radio entertainment. Mrs. Rachel Brown was chairman of the supper committee. The Auxiliary is busy with its Christmas work. Mrs. Della Klament has been elected secretary to fill the vacancy of Mrs. Catherine Myers, who has gone to Auburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer R. Luck and Mr. and Mrs. Verdal M. Sampson entertained at a Christmas party, Tuesday evening, at the Racket Club house. Supper was served at 6:30. The table decorations were in keeping with the Christmas season, and the centerpiece was a small fir tree which was filled with favors for each guest. The evening was devoted to bridge with five tables in play. The holders of high score were Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Shepard and low, Mrs. Irene Luck and Norman U. Greenlaw. They received appropriate souvenirs. Those in the gathering besides the hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Edminster, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Luck, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Luck, Mr. and Mrs Donald J. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Burton W. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Norman U. Greenlaw, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Shepard.

CHRISTMAS

The earth grows young again at Christmas time
And all the world is filled with joy, and light,
Like that which shone long centuries ago,
To those who watched, that first glad Christmas night.

We come not as the three wise men of old
Who followed from the East a beckoning star,
And brought their gifts of frankincense and myrrh,
Of gold and rarest gems from lands afar.

We feel a sense of sacred new-found peace,
And all our hearts are full of Christmas cheer,
Of love and kindness toward our fellowmen,
On this, the holiest day of all the year.

—HELEN S. GARCELON.

Two Norway Men To Retire

Judge William F. Jones to Leave the Municipal Court—M. W. Sampson The Lake Business

Capt. M. W. Sampson completed the sale of his boat business last Thursday and the entire equipment passes to H. H. Hosmer, well known as Bert Hosmer

The conveyance includes the boat house, landings, three motor boats, nine row boats, two canoes and all equipment. The gas and oil business is included. Mr. Hosmer plans to make additions and have a fleet of eighteen boats on Lake Pennesseewassee next summer. He will transport passengers, baggage and freight and in other ways cater to cottagers and campers. Care of cottages during the winter will be one of his strong features.

Bert has sailed the big pond for forty years and knows every cove, inlet, rock and point. His experience starts with Capt. Edmund Ames' Pennesseewassee steamboat about 1886 when as a youngster he was a passenger on its trial trip around the pond. In after years he worked for Will Crommett on the "Henrietta" and was handy man for Capt. Sampson, who succeeded "Hen and Ben" Hosmer and Harry Downing.

Capt. Sampson has been a familiar figure around the lake shore for twenty-five years and will be missed by summer residents whom he served during his active life as captain of the Pennesseewassee fleet.

Mr. Hosmer has leased Geo. Stephenson's buildings adjoining the property and will repair boats and do general work connected with his business around the water front or about the cottages.

Christmas at Weary Club

Children Invited

All the children under ten years of age are invited to call at the Weary Club on Christmas Day and get a package of candy.

Come between 9 and 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

"SQUARE CROOKS"

Rehearsals for the play, "Square Crooks", to be presented under the auspices of the Lake Temple Pythian Sisters and directed by W. J. Flanders, are being held at the K. of P. Hall and a cast of well known talent has been selected. Clara Parnell Cole and Mr. Flanders have the leads. Others in the cast are Eleanor Wood, Annie Knight, Marian Downing, Victor Partridge, Stephen Bradeen and Ernest Descoteau.

The play is in three acts and a comedy-mystery play of the better class, having had a record run in New York City with Philip Lord in the cast. In connection with the play a style show and beauty contest will be staged and a Miss Norway will be chosen. Through the courtesy of local merchants, some of the latest in women's wearing apparel will be shown.

THOUGHT DEAD

A recent report in the local paper, sent in by the Cubs of Ward 8, stated that the Rattlers had passed away. The Rattlers wish to rectify this statement, they are not dead, but can found at the door of the Cubs' den, waiting for spring, when the hibernating bears come forth. This is another example of sportsmanship shown by the rattlers. They will not enter the den and kill the Cubs in their sleep, but will give them a chance to come out.

The false story of the recent death written by an escaped mischievous little cub is just a fraud to withdraw the Rattlers from their position, letting all the other cubs out. This story-writing cub can foresee death awaiting each and every one of his brothers when they come out.

An experienced club of years existance like the Rattlers are not to be fooled so easily and every Cub is surely facing death. Thanks of appreciation are expressed to the Cubs for acknowledging the successful season enjoyed by their foes, but nevertheless the Cubs must take their punishment. If nothing more is heard from the Rattlers this winter the reason is known.

DRAMAS CLOSED UNIVERSALIST FAIR

A supper and two plays closed the annual Christmas fair conducted by the Ladies' Circle of the Universalist church, Thursday night.

Nearly 200 patronized the supper in the vestry and remained for the entertainment. The first play was a tragedy in one act, entitled, "The Game of Chess" with a Russian setting and pre-revolutionary atmosphere. The characters were taken by Clayton Murch, Sam Favor, Stanley Murch and Fred Paul.

The second was a three act comedy drama, "Jack O' Hearts" under the able director, Rev. Conard B. Rheiner. There was plenty of rollicking comedy with amusing situations brought out in the witty lines and intelligent acting. Of course the fun started early and the web of mix-up was woven tightly during the first act to sustain interest until the saisfacory ending. Parts were taken by Miss Caroline Downing, Miss Clara Adkins, Glenn R. McIntire, Osmond Towne, Miss Eleanor Rich, Miss Vera Frakes, Stanley Murch and Rev. C. B. Rheiner, the coach. All characters were assumed true to type and carried through to a successful finish.

The popular trio, Miss Elizabeth Klain, piano, Miss Marion Haskell, violin, and Miss Josephine Rand, cello, played the overture and between the acts.

A number of articles that remained after the sale on Wednesday were auctioned to the highest bidder by Louis J. Brooks.

Schools will close Friday for two weeks Christmas vacation, opening for the winter term on Jan. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren McKeen of North Lovell were at their daughter's one day last week, Mrs. Frank McAllister's.

George Seavey, G. A. R. Veteran, who went west two years ago, writes Norway friends that he is in Oberlin, Kan., and is very well this winter. He is talking of returning to Norway in the spring.

Miss Bella Davis, R. N., formerly Community nurse in Norway, and now clinic nurse for the Maine Public Health Association, is leaving Saturday for a vacation cruise to the Barbadoes. She will be away about twenty-one days.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Knight and family of Lynn, Mass., have been spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Louisa Knight and sister, Harriet B. Knight. They have been in Texas for eleven months and Virginia, two months, and have recently returned from there. Mr. Knight, who is an engineer for Stone & Webster, is soon to go to Northern Michigan, for the installation of electrical works. His family will remain in Lynn.

The nomination of Robert B. Dow as judge of the Norway Municipal Court has been made public by Governor William T. Gardiner at Augusta.

The present incumbent, Judge William F. Jones, was not a candidate for renomination. He has presided on the Municipal bench since 1906, a period of twenty-four years, with a law office adjoining the court room. He will continue the practice of law and other legal business.

When the nomination is officially confirmed the attorneys will exchange offices Judge Jones moves over Stone's drug store and Attorney Dow settles near the court room.

Brief History of The National Institute of Public Administration

Organized in 1921, the National Institute of Public Administration substituted research for platforms and politics, analysis for attacks upon public officials, and based recommendations upon on unbiased observation of facts made by a full time technical and professional staff. The Bureau through its attempts to bring about better government in New York City incurred the wrath of office-holders and at the same time received a vast amount of free advertising with the result that contributions poured in from public-spirited citizens. Through the cooperative method for over ten years the Bureau was able to achieve many administrative reforms and save great sums of the taxpayer's money.

Since the Walker administration the city has again availed itself of their services. Their method has always been nonpartisan and without prejudice or bias. They achieved such a large measure of success that other cities began to ask for their assistance. The movement then spread to State governments. No less than 235 separate studies have been made by the Bureau and the Institute, including 50 cities, 27 counties, 9 states as a whole and special studies in 18 other states. No other organization can compare with them in extent of work in the study of governmental administration. The State of Maine was enabled to secure their services through a gift of $20,000 from the Spelman Fund, the trustees of which are interested in the technical aspects of government.

The survey which has been made in Maine by the National Institute of Public Administration will be presented to the Legislature at the 1931 session. Publicity has been given the survey through various Maine papers, and at public meetings held at several places in the state.

The purpose is reorganization and consolidation of our state government, in order to secure efficiency and economy. This may be brought about by having less departments and more systematic methods.

Every person in Maine should be interested in this move and use their influence to see that the Legislature gives this matter the most careful consideration.

Community Christmas

The Call is Great for a Large Supply

Christmas is only a week away and the committee for the Community Christmas work is asking those who have donations, if they will be sure and have them carried to the Swett Shoe Store Basement, the latter part of this week, or by Monday noon at the latest.

The packages will be made up ready for distribution, Tuesday. There is a great call for clothing, bedding, boots and shoes, and overshoes, groceries, etc.

HOMEMADE SONG BOOK AND JOURNAL

Mrs. Annie Sessions shows us a, copy book once the property of her father, Alfred W. Whitehouse, late of Norway. His name is on the first page with Cambridgeport, Mass., as his residence. He went to that city before 1867, but the cues to the age of the book are the years 1869, when he commenced working for one Macintire and 1873, when certain notes were made about rooms and board in Cambridgeport.

Of unusual interest is a list of names under the head "Base Ball Club" and many connected with the history of the famous Pennesseewassee team, which won the silver cup. The names are Clarence M. Smith, James Danforth, Alton Obrien, John M. Moody, Frank E. Jackson, Herman L. Horne, Alfred W. Whitehouse, John F. Merrill, Charles W. Howe, Geo. Gane, Charles Witt, Riley Bancroft, Harry R. Virgin, Mark Pike, Charles G. Blake, Charles A. Carpenter, Walter B. Gunnison, Elgin Greenleaf, Charles Allen and James Greenleaf. The year is uncertain, but around 1879 is one's guess.

Many pages are devoted to words of songs copied with great care. Some of the titles are "The Temperance Song", "On, On, On the Boys Came Marching", "Fairy Bell", "Come Home Father", "The Little Mound", "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground", "Cottage by the Sea", "The Gypsies' Warning", "Enoch Arden" and "Nora O'Neal".

Near the back of the book are two South Paris items, which we quote, "The foundation for the hose tower is in and the superstructure will be completed in the near future. It will be ten feet square and fifty-five feet in height. William Henry Jenne, first assessor of the Village Corporation is in charge". The second item, "Oscar E. Barrows has sold his farm to Leon Brooks of Greenwood".

CHASED BY INTOXICATED MEN

Miss Leah Bartlett and Miss Bertha Taylor were chased by two intoxicated, unknown fellows last Thursday night. After having attended a party at school the girls started down Main street towards home. Miss Taylor was walking down a ways with Miss Bartlett and as they were walking along two men in a Chevrolet open car drove up, one of them jumped out and chased the girls and they ran into Mr. Pendexter's house.

Mr. Pendexter got the number of the car and telephoned it to the sheriff, then he escorted the girls safely to their homes.

Miss Bertha Taylor is planning on going to Hollywood as soon as school closes in June, where she will stay with her uncle and aunt. She will attend school there.

The Norway Advertiser sent to your friends or relatives is a very acceptable gift. Try it this year.

Norway Churches

Methodist Episcopal

The Sunday morning service begins at 10:30 o'clock at which time the minister will bring a Christmas message appropriate to the season. The Sunday school meets immediately following the morning communion. At 6 o'clock the young peoples' league will meet in Community Hall.

The entire evening service beginning at 7 o'clock will be given over to the presentation of the Christmas program by the young people of the church. The primary and junior grades will participate in a worship program arranged by Miss Dorothy Wiles, while the older folks will present a Christmas pageant and other features of inspiration under the leadership of the minister.

Last Sunday evening the pastor gave the final act-story in the series on "The Fool". The series as given was one of those dramatic moral presentations long to be remembered.

Universalist

Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m., "The Nativity", a Christfas pageant by Rosamond Kimball, will be presented in Concert Hall. This service is composed entirely of selections from the Gospels, arranged in dramatic form on the plan of the mystery play so common during the Middle Ages, picturing the incidents of the gospel story of The Nativity, and accompanied by Christmas carols and beautiful chants.

There are four scenes as follows: 1, The Temple; 2, The Annunciation; 3, The Shepherds in the Field; 4, The Nativity. The characters are Mary, played by Clara Adkins; Joseph, played by Osmond Towne; Gabriel, played by Eleanor Rich; Zacharias, played by Sam Favor. The three shepherds are Robert Emerson, Vivian Hutchins and Harlow Adkins. And the three wise men are, Edwin Barker, Conard B. Rheiner and Glenn McIntire. Fred Paul is the reader, and the choir sings the incidental music. The pageant is directed by Rev. Conard B. Rheiner. Mrs. Rheiner is assistant. This service has the threefold appeal—the Bible words accompanied by music, with the actual scenes of the Nativity story. It is a unique and wonderfully impressive Christmas program.

Rev. Conard B. Rheiner, the pastor, will preach a special Christmas sermon at the morning service beginning at 10 o'clock. His topic will be "Incarnation". There will be special Christmas music by the vested choir and the congregation will sing familiar Christmas carols. The loose offering will go to the W. C. T. U. for the Community Christmas.

The Sunday school will convene at 11:10 in Concert Hall, when a special program will be presented. A junior choir will lead the singing of the Christmas carols and the Christmas story will be presented in tableaus.

The Y. P. C. U. will hold a devotional meeting at 6:00 p. m., leader, Earl Pierce. Topic, "Should Our Immigration Laws be Strengthened".

At 7:30 p. m., a group of young people will present a pageant, "The Nativity". Everybody in the community is invited to attend this inspirational service.

The annual Christmas supper, tree and entertainment for the Sunday school will take place on Monday evening at 6:00 p. m. Mrs. Holt will have charge of the supper and different classes will look after getting the tree, decorating it and distributing the presents.

An installaion service will be held on Friday, January 2, and several out of town speakers will participatt. Particulars will be given in the Advertiser next week.

Baptist

Sunday, Christmas services at 10:45 and 7, Bible school at 12. Our Bible school is growing in numbers and interest. Parents, don't simply send your children, but take your part in the study of the word of God. Classes for all.

This week the whole church is reading the Acts of the Apostles. We are reading a book of the Bible every week. Any problems, difficulties or questions in connection with the reading may be presented to the pastor.

There will be no Home Department next week.

This Thursday at 3:15 right after school the boys and girls met in the vestry for their own good time. The story this week in the boys and girls of the Bible series is "The Slave girl who helped her master".

Our Thursday meeting is for all and is a time of prayer, fellowship and testimony, in the things of God, everyone being free to express themselves. The discussion of some subject vital to the Christian life is also a feature. This week Chester P. Gates will lead in the discussion of the topic, "How to Make Others Happy". Come and join in.

We are preparing for Christmas and there will be a children's rehearsal under the care of Mrs. Edith Corbett at the church, Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Congregational

Sunday school, 10 a. m.; morning service, 11 a. m. There will be special Christmas music by the vested choir: Christmas Carols, Schilling; The Star of Bethlehem, Wilson;

Peace and Good Will, Ada's Timely Lesson

by Katherine Edelman

"PEACE on earth, good will toward men."

Ada Stratnor bent her head as the words of the preacher rang out. She wished he had chosen some other text; she didn't want to hear about peace this morning; in fact, she hadn't wanted to come to church at all, but the habit of years is not easily broken.

She was sorry now that she had come; it would have been better if she had heeded the impulse and stayed at home. For the service, beautiful though it was, only made her more unhappy. Her heart echoed the truth of the words the preacher was saying: "There is no happiness in the heart that does not hold peace and good will toward all."

For months she had known this; but wounded trust and pride had kept her from acknowledging it even to herself. Never before had days been so long and empty, so full of bitterness and unhappiness. Three months ago her only nephew, whom she had persuaded to study medicine, had told her that he could not go on with that work, and worse, expressly against her wishes, insisted upon taking up the art course that she had made him drop before. For Ada Stratnor felt that the career of an artist was too precarious and held too many threats of poverty. And a still greater reason, she wanted him to carry on the tradition of the Stratnor family—a doctor in every generation. Nor had she relented a particle when he told her that the biggest joy in life was to be able to do the thing one wanted to, no matter how hard the way.

Again the voice of the preacher reached her: "Christmas is a time for reconciliation, for forgiveness, for mutual understanding." Her head bent lower at the words; something seemed to be choking her, and in a moment two great tears dropped on her clasped hands.

But as Ada Stratnor left the church a half hour later, the joy of peace and love was again filling her heart, and her eyes were shining as she pictured the happiness that a Christmas reconciliation would bring.

MISSIONARY CHRISTMAS

I wonder if my Christmas tree
Is something meant alone for me,
Or for the ones I cannot see
In all of God's great family.

I light its candles with a sigh;
Each tiny flame seems like an eye
Striving to pierce some clouded sky
To glimpse the Christmas star on high.

So long's my spirit to explore
At Christmas time a foreign shore
Where dwell lost souls who ne'er before
Have heard the words, God's Open Door.

To such my Christmas wish is sped
That Yuletide branches here outspread
May cover all; that souls be led
From darkness whither Light is shed.

Christmas "Surprise" to the Wrong Person

by Blanche Tanner Dillin

"ARE the napkins all right, Mrs. Barker?" handing the package to the other woman.

"Beautifully done, Mrs. Baker," paying her for the newly hemmed napkins. "And a very Merry Christmas."

"Thank you so much. I am sure I shall have a happy day, for the nicest thing has happened."

"What was it?" her hostess asked.

"I have wanted my sister with me for Christmas, but I didn't see how I could afford any extra expense. There has been so much lately," Mrs. Baker explained.

Mrs. Barker knew the little woman had had a struggle to meet expenses.

"I never buy much from Mr. Atwood's grocery, and this morning I ordered some flour and a few things, nothing very Christmasy. I did want a turkey and all the trimmings, but I couldn't afford it," she sighed.

"After I had been home a while I found a turkey, cranberries and everything for a Christmas dinner. I was so delighted!" wiping tears of joy from her eyes. "I though there was a mistake perhaps, but there on a package of dried fruit was a card with 'A-Merry Christmas from the Atwood Market' and the ticket had my name on it."

"What a happy surprise," Mrs. Barker agreed.

"I must stop and thank Mr. Atwood, for I couldn't do it over the telephone," moving to the door. "I telegraphed my sister and she will be here in the morning, I suppose. A Merry Christmas," she called as she went down the path.

Mary, the cook, came into the room. There was a mistake in the order. The line was busy—she couldn't get the market. "What did they send?" Mrs. Barker asked.

"Flour and some things like that," Mary answered.

Mrs. Barker, looking at the order, saw what had happened. The ticket for "F. H. Barker" had gone on the order for "F. H. Baker."

"Just keep the order, Mary; I want to telephone." After telephoning first to the grocer and then to Mr. Barker, she told Mary that she might have Christmas day off, as she and Mr. Barker would be dining out.

Christmas Coasting Down a Hill of Gold

By Noni Clack Bailey

A LOGICAL association it is—snow-clad hills, coasting, boys, Christmas; but this year found Norman at a mining camp in Nevada without snow or toboggan, just a boy and a Christmas spirit.

Men, weather-brown and sturdy, were milling gold from the dump of a mine which years ago had taken out millions in high-grade ore, leaving other thousands in the dump because modern methods were unknown. Tractor, plow and scraper were turning this discarded wealth into the mill to run over mercury plates and into cyanide tanks to salvage gold.

Norman's father was one of these men. Norman had tired watching men, mill and tractor. Remembering it was Christmas, he considered what a real live boy should do on Christmas day. An idea! Finding a long, smooth board and a short slender one for steering, he climbed to the top of the dump and began coasting down as if it were no more valuable than a sand hill covered with snow.

Again and again he climbed to the top and coasted down, his cheeks glowing with exercise and rarefied desert air. Along came Mr. Sterling, president of the mine, just in time to see a pretty spill from the improvised toboggan which sent Norman the rest of the way tobogganless. He came up grinning, but Mr. Sterling saw a badly damaged pair of coveralls.

"Well, sonny," he said, "I've coasted down many a hill, but never a hill of gold. But today is Christmas, isn't it? Let's go over to the chemist's shack and see if we can find something to use for coveralls." He found a pair of overalls that Norman could wear by rolling them up. Mr. Sterling took Norman's torn garment and dropped it into a can of cyanide. Later in the day Norman stood in wide-eyed wonder while Mr. Sterling took the residue from the can, strained it through a chamois and presented Norman with a "button" of gold which he had gathered up in his coveralls in the process of his coasting.

It was the most interesting Christmas gift Norman had ever received and gave him a lot more respect for the value of that hill as well as for Mr. Sterling.

Circle Officers—Public Whist Party—Christmas Program.

The ladies of the Circle held a baked bean and salad supper at the vestry, Thursday evening, Dec. 4. About fifty attended. The Circle re-orgnized and elected officers for the coming year as follows:

President—Mrs. Lillie Fox.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Herbert McKeen.
Sec.—Mrs. Ralph McAlister.
Treas.—Mrs. Ella Smith.

Rev. R. A. Brandon was the speaker, Sunday. Over forty were present at Sunday school and sixty-two at church.

The second public whist party was held Friday evening, Dec. 5th, entertained by Addie Kimball, Ruth Stanford and Marion Adams. There were twelve tables in play, first prizes going to Ella C. McKeen and H. G. Ring, consolations to Addie Andrews and James Buzzell. A lunch of sandwiches, pickles, cakes and coffee was served to over sixty. A social dance followed.

Dan Fox and wife have been stopping a few days at his brother's, Isaac's. His wife has been in Boston in the hospital for some weeks.

Arthur Silkworth and wife and Bessie Stearns were in Portland, Monday.

Isma Coleman was in Lewiston to see her father H. B. McKeen, at the C. M. G. Hospital, recently.

School closed Friday, Dec. 5th, for a two weeks vacation, the teacher, Doris Blaisdell, going to her home in Brunswick. A Christmas tree and entertainment was held in the afternoon and the parents invited, eighteen accepted, and attended. A nice treat of several kinds of candy was furnished by the teacher and old Santa appeared for a short time to take the presents from the tree.

Observance of Christmas

It may not be generally known that Christmas has not always been observed on the 25th of December. There was no celebration of the Nativity until nearly 100 years after the death of Jesus. Since then it has been observed on the 1st and 6th of January, the 29th of March, the 29th of September, the 19th of April and the 20th of May.

WATERFORD'S TAX SHRINKAGE

W. W. Fillebrown, Town Treasurer of Waterford sends statement showing how the state excise tax shrunk the income of his town.

The following may be interesting to many to show how the new auto tax has worked our for the year 1930 as compared to the old law as used in 1928.

Cars taxed in Waterford, 1930:
1 Tractor
5 Motor Cycles.
239 Passenger Cars.
67 Trucks
Or a total of 312, which paid a tax of $1,622-.07 or an average of $5.19 per car.

In 1929 there were 226 cars taxed, which paid in $2,214.00. Average $9.80 per car. Multiplying the difference in averages between 1929 and 1930 by 312 shows a loss of $1,438.32 to the Town of Waterford for the year 1930 under the new law.

The following shows the number and value of cars taxed in Waterford for 1930:

29 cars manufactured 1930, val..	$ 21,070.00
41 cars manufactured 1929, val..	28,800.00
36 cars manufactured 1928, val..	30,280.00
27 cars manufactured 1927, val..	24,195.00
50 cars manufactured 1926, val..	35,390.00
129 cars manufactured thereafter, value	103.275.00
Total value	$243,010.00

Miss Harriet Daniels is assisting in the home of Mrs. Donald Briggette.

OXFORD—FORE STREET

Isn't it wonderful how Oxford Fore Street is coming into the limelight! Somebody must be sitting up and taking notice by what is "Heard and Seen at the Advertiser Office."

Mission meetings were held on Fore St., and at Oxford Village, Tuesday and Friday, Dec. 9th and 12th, to close up the Christmas work as none are to be held until after December 25.

Elmer and Albert Twitchell were in Bethel, the 12th.

Tina Twitchell was at Norway Lake Mothers' Club Hall to a religious service Friday night, with Mr. and Mrs. Ai Twitchell.

Much has been said about Fore Street people feeding those asking for coffee and food. One man called at a place, asked for food, was given a good lunch, and calling at another house, said he had called at every house, was denied food, and was told that no one cared if he had to sleep in the road. Makes us wonder what is best to do. How can we please?

Margaret Cummings is assisting at Fred Brown's store during the Christmas season.

EAST OXFORD

Geo. H. McKeen has made several business trips lately, one to Berlin and Gorham, N. H., another through New Hampshire, Vermont and Canada and one to Boston, Mass.

NEWNESS OF THE OLD

THERE is nothing new about a Christmas tree. But that only makes it the lovelier.

There is nothing new about children's delight in Santa Claus. But that does not take away from the charm of their belief.

There is nothing new about wreaths hanging in windows. But that does not make them any less a welcome sight.

There is nothing new about children hanging up their stockings. But that does not take away from the appeal of those limp, empty stockings, hanging up so expectantly.

There is nothing new about members of a family being together for Christmas. But that does not take away from its deep joyousness.

There is nothing new about Christmas wishes and greetings. But that does not make them any less cheery.

There is nothing new about giving Christmas presents. But that does not make them any less interesting.

There is nothing new about tinsel and decorations and red ribbon and silver string. But that does not make them any less gay and decorative.

There is nothing new about Christmas. But there is no day like it in all the year.

KEZAR FALLS

Cement Road Dedicated—Kiwanis Notes

Rev. Lewis Jones of Limerick occupied the pulpit of the M. E. church last Sunday morning, Rev. Arthur Callaghan being confined to his home on account of the injury to his foot. Mr. Jones preached a good sermon from the text, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me". Mrs. Chauncy Cutting sang a beautiful solo, "Show Me Thy Way", and the choir sang the anthem, "Oh Father Almighty" in a most impressive manner.

The Portland Press Herald is a favorite paper in Kezar Falls and it follows as a matter of course that its editorial, the Sunday Press Herald, is a welcome visitor. Last Sunday it was extremely vivacious and teeming with interest. A glimpse within its pages revealed the facsimile of F. W. Sanborn, editor of the Norway Advertiser, with accompanying words of commendation, which made very pleasant reading, and that was not all, the paper was electrified and the very words pictures appeared full of sparkle and animation.

Miss Phyllis Holmes of the Rhode Island Hospital is home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holmes, to stay during the Christmas holidays.

The cement road between this village and Cornish, which has recently been completed, was Saturday afternoon the scene of a christening. Owing to the prevailing atmosphere the original plans were modified, the automobile procession given up and the meeting held in the town hall with Lawyer Bachelder presiding. The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. Joseph Clare of Cornish, who besought the Heavenly Father's blessing upon road and people. The two speakers were disciples of progress, Donald B. Partridge, Congressman-elect of Norway and Orman L. Stanley of Kezar Falls, a member of the governor's council.

Both gentlemen were interesting speakers and extolled the value of good roads. Ridlon's orchestra from Cornish and men's glee club, filled all vacancies very acceptably. To witness the christening it was necessary to leave the hall, cross the bridge and stand in the square facing the bank. Directions were minutely followed. The young lady broke the bottle containing water from the Ossipee River over the designated area, recited her verses, bowed to the assembly and the "concrete road" became an established fact. The thanks of the people are largely given to Orman L. Stanley as being the originator, sponsor and active advocator of the road.

Last Monday night the Kiwanians hied them to their old home (Hotel Malvern) and listened with great interest to Doctor Melvin Leavitt of Effingham, N. H., (the speaker of the evening) recount fifty years of his life, which was an upward struggle from his boyhood. He thirsted for knowledge, but sixteen weeks of school was all he ever received from a little red schoolhouse, or any other schoolhouse. "Where there is a will, there is a way", and he hewed his way as he went toward his goal; each step engraved indelibly upon his memory. Without complaint against his hard fate he simply forged ahead and what he wished for, came to pass. He stands, a man among men, eminent in his profession, a lover of his native place and of his fellow men and has the knowledge within him how best to help him in his hour of need.

Lewis Danforth recently sold a lot of geese in Fryeburg. The Fliver Ed. was one of them. He sold Young one, but Lewis said the goose was not a young one, and he wouldn't feed it to his young ones. 'Del' Prince was also goose enough to buy an old gander. He probably figured that roast goslin', being fit for a king, ought to be fit for a Prince. And 'twas. 'Del' had seventeen kinds of fit when he tried to carve it.

One of the main thoroughfares of bustling Brownfield has been dubbed 'Dog Street' because the doggies run wild there. It's a vicey-versey in Fryeburg.

Hour Weekly Owed

Oh, Pee-Wee golf has hit our town;
Our course it is a pippin,
And young and old, so I've been told,
Send little globules skippin'.
And some can do a hole in 'one'
And some take 'ten' or 'twenty';
But, by the looks of pocketbooks,
The 'holes' will be aplenty.
And 'bridge' must take a seat, way back
With ping-pong and parcheesi.
Once, all the gay could play croquet;
Those games are now, too easy.
No simple pastimes for our town,
Just rig out in your knickers;
Drive off! What bliss! But if you miss,
Then ev'rybody snickers.
If you'd be 'IT' in this man's town,
E'en though the game you're hating,
Just join the throng; you can't go wrong;
'Twill help your social rating.
Well, let them gambol on the green,
I like to see folks merry;
But I'll go home and scratch my 'dome'
O'er a game of 'solitery'.

BATES—WEST PARIS

Grange Notes—Unions Entertained—D. of U. V. Notes—Guests at Curtis'.

The Grange held an all day meeting last Saturday. There was a good number of interested members present and one visitor in the afternoon, a young lady from Dickvale, who is a member of the West Peru Grange, who is staying with Mrs. H. W. Dunham for companion and assisting with the house work. This meeting of the Grange was the annual business meeting and election of officers. It was voted to leave the arrangement of installation with the Master, C. L. Richardson, who will consult with Paris Grange and invite them to unite for that business in return for last year, when West Paris met at South Paris with them. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were given, the latter showing an encouraging gain in the financial affairs of the Grange. A plan to install the pictures of the Past Masters on the wall of the auditorium is well under way. There have been twenty-two Masters, who have served from one to four years each since the organization of the West Paris Grange in 1888. Harrison W. Childs was the first Master, who with nine others have passed on to the Great Grange above.

Mrs. R. T. Flavin, who received injuries by falling on the cellar stairs, proved worse than at first was supposed, and she had to take her bed after keeping up for four or five days. Her leg is gaining now. Edith Bradford is helping out with the work.

The Junior and Senior Unions of the Universalist church were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albion Abbott last Sunday evening for their meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Abbott have invited them to meet in their home through the winter months, which is much appreciated, since it is not only a saving in heating expenses, but the young people like it and the attendance is better.

Mrs. Gertrude Stuart of Auburn, who has been visiting Mrs. F. S. Farnum, is now spending a week with Mrs. L. H. Emery.

Mrs. Nellie Richardson of Henniker, N. H., has been visiting her uncle, Alfred, and Mrs. Perham.

Mrs. W. Farr is slowly gaining from her recent illness. She takes daily walks outdoors with her nurse and is gaining in weight.

Barbara Richardson has returned from the hospital, where she has been for an operation for appendicitis, and is making good recovery.

Granite Chapter O. E. S. enjoyed a Christmas tree and refreshments, Thursday evening.

Harold Gammon was in Boston last week on business.

Pomona—Mrs. Hazel Chute.
Flora—Mrs. Ruth Butterfield.
L. A. S.—Miss Marguerite Nason.
Pianist—Mrs. Nettie Gray.
Ex. Com. for 3 years—Arthur T. Smith.

At the next meeting, Dec. 27, a Christmas party will be enjoyed and each member is asked to bring an inexpensive gift.

On Friday evening the Harrison Lodge, I. O. O. F., served a fine supper to the Rebekahs and the ladies of the members of I. O. O. F. A dance and sing followed and a good time enjoyed.

Exactly one week after the death of Rev. E. Z. Whitman at Bountiful, Utah, his widow, Mrs. Dora V. Whitman, passed away, Dec. 11th. Mrs. Whitman also lived in Harrison many years and had many friends here. She was born in Bethel, July 25, 1848. She married Rev E. Z. Whitman sixty years ago. She leaves many friends everywhere to mourn her death and also Mr. Whitman's the previous week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Briggs and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Smith motored to Chatham, N. H., Sunday, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Hill.

BOLSTERS MILLS

The schools closed Friday for a two weeks vacation. Both schools united and had a nice Christmas program and the children all took their parts well, especially little Willard Clark, Jr., who sang a song alone. There were a lots of visitors and lots of presents for the children.

We have a little snow that helps fill up the ruts in the roads.

A. W. Weston went, Thursday, to Berlin, N. H., to see his sister, Mrs. Mark Twitchell.

BRIDGTON CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Culbert and children, Mary, Leotine, William and Pearle were Sunday visitors at their parents' in Oxford.

Henry Walker and W. L. Day have gone to East Bethel to work in the woods for A. B. Grover.

Lubelle Darling and family, who were burned out at Otisfield, are stopping with her mother, Mrs. Etta Warren at North Bridgton. The family of four just got out, they lost all household furnishings, two big cars, a truck, five head of cattle, a pair of large work horses, a nice hog, besides the hog they had just dressed off. Will Day also lost a nice cow and horse in these buildings. Mr. Day, who was at the time moving to Bridgton, left them here until he could get settled some. This was quite a loss to Mr. Day, who has a big family and has had a lot of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Wentworth were Saturday evening callers at Percy Culbert's.

For that Christmas gift—send the Norway Advertiser—you will find it an acceptable present.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, once more the Great Reaper has entered Oxford Pomona Grange and taken our beloved and esteemed Bro., George W. Richardson, to his last home.

Bro. Richardson was always ready and willing to do his work faithfully and well, as treasurer of Oxford Pomona Grange, his accounts were always correct. He had held many positions of trust in and out of the Grange, following the same principle of honesty and willingness to give service to others. While we sincerely mourn the passing of Bro. Richardson, we realize that the community and our Pomona has been strengthened and encouraged by his loyal, faithful service. We that are left have a heavier burden to carry without him. We will miss his true friendship and wise counsel.

And be it further resolved: That this expression of sentiment be spread upon our records, a copy be sent to the bereaved family and one sent to the Norway Advertiser for publication and our charter be draped in mourning for thirty days.

L. E. McINTIRE,
G. W. Q. PERHAM,
C. F. SAUNDERS,
Committee on Resolutions.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to neighbors and friends for what they have done for us in our recent loss by fire.

MR. AND MRS. VIRGIL SMITH AND FAMILY.

Merry

Christmas

It's going to be hard to be merry, even on Christmas, if you have to wear overcoats to the dinner table and the whole family's sniffling and sneezing.

But why be cold? Why sniffle or sneeze? All so unnecessary when a Heatrola will keep the whole house—upstairs and down—bountifully supplied with moist, circulating warm air—the most healthful kind of heat, as any doctor will tell you.

Especially now, when you can buy a genuine Heatrola—made by Estate—the original cabinet heater, with the Intensi-Fire Air Duct and other exclusive heat-making, fuel-saving features, on these extraordinary terms:

Pay only a small amount down—then NO MORE UNTIL SEPTEMBER, 1931, when monthly payments may be started on our budget plan. And $10.00 allowed for your old stove ($5.00 on the Junior or Wood Heatrola).

Think it over. But don't think too long. This unprecedented offer is good until December 20th only.

WEST SUMNER

To the editor and his staff and all his correspondents, the writer extends happy greetings for the coming holidays.

The town meeting passed off very quietly. S. G. Barrett was chosen moderator and 164 votes were cast on the first ballot. The vote taken at the previous town meeting to break the roads by motor power all over town was rescinded and a vote taken to break the main roads and it was left for the selectmen to determine what roads were main roads. It was voted not to buy equipment.

Clair Pulsifer has returned from the C. M. G. Hospital.

Frank Hobbs has found a man's kid glove with a wrist strap, in good condition.

Mrs. Bertha Bell contributed a woman's brown leather glove to our collection of lost and strayed articles. This was found late Tuesday afternoon opposite the upper Cloverdale.

Mrs. Arthur Morrill showed us a fine fountain pen, which she received from one of her cheese customers in Connecticut. Mrs. Morrill was much pleased with the gift.

The Robert B. Thomas Almanac, 1931, has arrived. It is its 139th and has a familiar look throughout New England. Price 15 cents. On sale at all book stores.

Chas. Edw. Caswell, printer, Concord, N. H., sends "Ray of Sunshine" issued now and then for free circulation. It contains the season's greeting in prose and poetry. Thanks.

Herbert Butler has put an ad. in this issue and is selling out his honey crop at the Pleasureland and says that he expects to be on the road again in the spring.

Our desk calendar has arrived. It comes from Jones, Gould, Burbank & Co., investment brokers of Portland. W. A. Holman is vice president of the corporation and has many friends and acquaintances in this vicinity.

Please take notice—this week we have a visit of the "Fryeburg Flivver". The Flivver Editor has been "off the road" for some time due to fall work, etc. Meet C. R. Mills of Fryeburg in another column in this issue.

We receive Mayflowers—real ones—beautifully colored and exquisite in fragrance. There is more than one kind. They came in a box by mail from Mrs. Lorin G. McKeen of Center Lovell. We presume the buds were blighted by frost, but are as perfect as in the spring time.

W. L. Newcomb and Mrs. Robert Bessell of North Lovell called at the office last Wednesday. They were shopping and calling on friends in this village. Mrs. Russell has been blind for six years, but is able to do most of the housekeeping work.

Some of your perplexities in regard to buying Christmas presents can be solved by sending a year's subscription (or part of a year in fact) to some of your friends. Christmas card receipt sent to party receiving gift if you desire. Use enclosed order blank. Your friends will enjoy your gift the whole year through.

Rev. G. Howard Newton, pastor of the Norway Baptist church is the "busy man" of the Twin Towns. He tells us that he has conducted religious meetings every night for six weeks and activities have not ceased. The minister bears up well under the strain and is eager to continue with good work.

Before the snow arrived Leo Walton, salesman for F. B. Fogg at South Paris made two trips up Pike Hill in the new Hudson Eight. The start was on Bridge street near this office with the car in high gear, or "two in". No changes were made on either trip, he said, and the journey ended in excellent form.

The season's greetings have been received from Al. F. Wheeler of Wheeler's New Model Shows, now in process of reconstruction and enlargement for the season of 1931. The circus hit the road in 1903 first as a "mud show" for a few years, then made the jumps on seventy-foot railroad cars. The outfit was motorized some four years ago. In spite of gloomy predictions from wise ones, fortune smiled broadly and the problem of reaching hungry ones remote from railroads and main arteries of travel was solved. The Christmas greeting was mailed at Albermarle, N. C., and in return we wish the organization the best luck and good business.

Don Seitz: "Survived a tedious trip to far Western Pennsylvania, where I spoke to the boys and faculty of Westminster College, at New Wilmington, almost on the Ohio border. Snow on the Alleghanies, but pleasant in the lowlands.

"We expect Mabel and her family in from China via Vancouver at 1:40 tomorrow morning, twenty-two days from Tientsin—some going. Am waiting for the page proofs on my Lincoln book, which should be along next week; then the presses will begin to turn. I fear it is not coming out at a good time. The book trade is about forty per cent. off over the 1929 average.

"Congress and Hoover are getting it to the evitable snarl as might have been expected.

How it is possible to help New York with 800,000 reputed to be out of work by building roads in the desert and damming the Colorado River, I don't know, but New York will have to pay most of the bill. Express to the Waldos my hope that all may have a pleasant Christmas and a comfortable New Year.

Obituary

MRS. MARY CHURCHILL

Norway—Mrs. Mary Churchill passed away at the home of Mrs. Ethel Howe at North Norway, Thursday at seven o'clock, where she has lived for the past three months. She had grip, followed by pneumonia. She was born in Sumner, Jan. 23, 1842. Her father was John Perley, who died when she was quite young and then she went to live at Thomas Richardson's. At the age of seventeen she married William Churchill and lived at Crockett Ridge and had one son and two daughters. Mr. Churchill died many years ago and also her children, who inherited their father's disease, consumption. She has one son, Vern Aldrich, who lives in Auburn, by her second marriage.

After Mr. Churchill's death she was matron of the Old Ladies' Home in Auburn for several years; also the home in Saco. She was loved by them all and was very tactful. As the work became too strenuous she became assistant undertaker and police matron and afterwards conducted a lodging house in Lynn. She was prominent in many lodges and organizations and held many important offices. She was on honorary member of the Grange and member of the Congregational church, where she attended constantly until she went to North Norway.

For the last ten years she has lived at Mrs. C. W. Chick's, who gave her the love and care of an own mother. For the last three months she has been tenderly cared for by Mrs. Howe at North Norway until she passed away. Kind providence provided her with good homes and kind friends, who all loved her as she had a cheerful, happy disposition and always had a pleasant word for every one. She has gone home to meet her loved ones.

The funeral was at Spiller's Funeral Home at 1 o'clock, Sunday, interment at Pine Grove cemetery. The flowers were very beautiful.

MRS. SARAH B. HEATH

Norway—After an illness of three days with pneumonia, Mrs. Sarah B. Heath, 94, passed away Dec. 15, at the home of her son, Timothy L. Heath, Main street, Norway. She was the oldest woman in town and granddaughter of a Revolutionary soldier.

Mrs. Heath was born in Berlin, N. H., Sept. 16, 1836, the daughter of Samuel and Rebecca Bean Blodgett, and the seventh in a family of ten children. She was the last of her family.

In 1854 she was married to Alonzo Heath in Shelburne, N. H., and they settled in Bethel. Later they resided at Waterford Flat, then in Greenwood. Her husband died in Norway while they were spending a short time with their son.

The widow bought a place at Noble's Corner, Norway, where she spent her summers of late years, spending the winters in her son's family. About six years ago she came to the village for a permanent home with her son and his wife.

She has been the mother of three sons and two daughters, only one son survives her. She leaves also four grandsons, seven great grandchildren and four great, great grandchildren.

Services were held Thursday afternoon from Spiller's Funeral Home, and attended by Rev. C. B. Rheiner of the Universalist church. The bearers were Clayton Heath, Howard Heath, Addison Heath and Harry Packard.

MISS FLORENCE E. BUCK

Norway—After years of failing health, Miss Florence E. Buck, 40, passed away at the Buck homestead on Crockett Ridge, Tuesday, Dec. 16.

Miss Buck was born in Waterford, Feb. 27, 1890, the daughter of the late Whitney and Elinora Chandler Buck. She came to Norway while quite young and the family settled in the Dinsmore neighborhood, where they have since lived. Several years ago she fractured her hip and had been almost helpless.

The deceased leaves two brothers, Clarence W., of the Farmer's Union in the village, and Arthur C., who lives on the home place.

The funeral will be held from her late home on Crockett Ridge, Friday afternoon, attended by Rev. Chrsitian Groetzinger of the Norway Congregational church. Interment at Riverside cemetery, South Paris.

MRS. CARRIE DANIELS

Norway—After many years of failing health, Mrs. Carrie Daniels passed away. Sunday morning, Dec. 7, at the home of her nephew, Fred Dunn, North Norway. Her death deserves more than a passing notice. She was born in 1851, the youngest and last of four daughters of Wm. H. and Clarissa Pingree. Rosanna married Edwin Dunn, Mary, John Smith of Cambridge, Mass., and Rowena, unmarried, a family noted for their industry and perseverance.

She received her education in the schools of Norway and was counted a brilliant scholar. She taught successfully in many of the rural schools, the writer of this was one of her pupils. Later she went to Massachusetts, married Judge Daniels of La Crosse, Wis., where she lived many years. It was there she became interested in woman suffrage and was one of its promoters. With her rare intellect she wrote many articles on the subject and also lectured through the state. She was a staunch believer in all reforms and no doubt if her health had permitted, would have been active in many of them.

After her husband's death, she came to live with her nephew, where for fifteen years she has been tenderly cared for.

Services were held at the home on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 10. Rev. W. W. Lyon, Methodist, spoke beautifully of the character of this noble and esteemed woman. She was laid to rest in the family lot at the Chapel cemetery. Such a person we do well to honor.

H. H. Hosmer of Norway has purchased the interests of Mel. W. Sampson at the lake and will continue the business. Mr. Hosmer will care for camps winters, repair boats, etc. See ad. in this issue.

EROS (ASTEROID)

Except the moon, comets and meteors, Eros, the diminutive little planet approaches nearest to the earth, of any other known object.

Of over 1100 asteroids that have been discovered since Ceres the first and largest of them in 1801, Eros was the 433d found and so is numbered 433. It was discovered by Witt of Berlin, Aug. 14th, 1898.

The planet is 15 or 20 miles in diameter, a star of the 11th magnitude, but at its nearest approach to earth, it will be of the 7.0 magnitude, just below the 6th, the limit of the unaided eye.

The center of the orbit of Eros is away from the sun, so it is eccentric as it moves around it, in 1.8 years. The Eros orbit lies outside the earths and nearly one-half further from the sun at 1.1-2 astronomical unites (astronomical unit equals distance from earth to sun).

The little planet before it was discovered, on examining plates was found to have had a close approach to the earth in 1900 and will make a still closer one nearly the closest that is possible January 30th, 1931, occurs the minimum distance from Eros to the earth, 16 millions of miles, about 1-6th the distance to the sun.

At the year 1900 opposition of Eros, the Paris Astronomical Conference determined the solar parallax as 8.80 seconds equaled to 92,830 miles distance. At the 1931 opposition a new value of plus or minus will probably be determined of 150,000 miles either way, so by greater precision of measurement of the 'solar yardstick'', a new determination of the astronomical unit will be established. This in turn will effect all solar measurements.

The biggest Christmas thrill in years!

This Christmas we've figured out a way for you to give her a Frigidaire inside a tiny velvet jewel box—a box you can hide in the palm of your hand or slip in her Christmas stocking!

Inside this box is a sterling silver "Medal of Honor," engraved with the name of the fortunate one who's to get the Frigidaire—or with both her name and yours. Thus you can give her the Frigidaire she's always wanted—and make your Christmas morning presentation in a new and exciting way. Come in today and get the details.

BUCKFIELD

Store Burglarized—Mrs. DeCoster Gone to Florida—Drama to be Presented.

The general store of B. Spaulding & Sons was burglarized sometime Thursday night and goods to the value of nearly $1,000 taken. The parties entered the basement. The theft was discovered by G. B. Spaulding, a member of the firm, on entering the store, Friday morning. The loot included clothing, ties, boots and shoes, guns, ammunition, tobacco and cigars, gloves, mittens and golf clubs. George H. Record, deputy sheriff was notified and High Sheriff Stimson with two deputies were summoned from South Paris and an examination of the premises made. No clue to the identity of the parties was found that was of sufficient importance to lead to any results. Officers in surrounding towns were notified to be on the watch for anyone attempting to dispose of the goods. The burglars evidently left a car near the brush shop site and came up the river on the ice and one of them must have broken through as wet clothing was found in the store which had been exchanged for dry and a hole in the ice of the mill pond showed where he went through.

Saco Valley United Parish

Ministering to Lovell, Fryeburg Harbor, North, West and Center Fryeburg, Stow, Union Hill and Toll Bridge

The regular program of the parish has been carried on the past weeks. Church Schools and congregations have improved at most points of the parish this winter. Now all eyes are fixed on Christmas, and preparations are being made for special Xmas services and entertainments. It is again planned to make this a White Gift Christmas. Christmas stockings are being filled with dimes for the cheer of poorer patients in the Deaconess' Hospital, Boston. Gifts of food and clothing, toys and books, and also money will be received to help our own unemployed, and such places as the Little Wanderers' Home, Boston.

Sunday night, at the Harbor Church, there will be a Pageant showing the first Christmas scenes, with appropriate music. The Church School tree and entertainment is booked for Monday, Dec. 22nd.

Through the kindness of the Fryeburg Lovell Kiwanis Club, we hope to make gifts of candies and fruit to the youngsters of the six Sunday Schools of the parish. The children will sing carols at the community trees in the center of Lovell and North Fryeburg villages.

Ezra Bosworth and Walter Burnell were guests at the Harbor Men's Club on Friday. David Bradley had cooked a fine New England boiled dinner for the fellows, and after the dishes were washed, Mr. Bosworth gave a very fine talk on his trip to Alaska. It was full of interest, and Ezra promised to come again and tell more of the story. Officers were elected for the year as follows:

President—Holmes Gould.
Vice Pres.—Simeon Guptill.
Sec.-Treas.—Leon Charles.
Program Committee Chairman—Rev. Walter Pavy.

The Club agreed to make a platform to put under the piano recently purchased for the church by the Epworth League, and also decided to form a 'bee' under the direction of D. A. Bradley to cut wood for the church.

The story of the North Fryeburg Willing Workers' Sale of Work, chicken pie supper and entertainment, of this Wednesday, will be told next week.

PUBLIC OPINION IS THE LAW

One of the periodic flurries over the enforcement of the Sunday blue laws is now in progress in Bellows Falls, Vt., and Concord, N. H. The trouble has been precipitated as it usual is, by somebody's agitating to have movies or midget golf or something of that sort prohibited on Sunday and the proprietors of such places then proceeding against all sorts of activities.

The fact is, of course, that conditions of life have so changed since these laws were enacted, that they are not applicable to the present day and generation. There are certain things which have to be done on Sundays now which were not dreamed of in the early times in New England.

The proper way, of course, would be for the legislature to revise the laws and bring them up to date, rather than to have them violated openly, as so many of our laws are.

But when this has been attempted such varieties of opinion have been revealed as to just what the revised laws should be, that nothing could be enacted. After all, it is one of those things which is bound to be regulated in the final analysis by public opinion.

The Rise of Tom Hadley

By C. F. Whitman

Chapter XXVII

The Timber Lot Secured

The next morning before going to his place of business, Mr. Benton called at the express office and informed Tom that he had considered the matter of securing the tract that he and Charley wanted and thought it best to write Mr. Hadley about it and if he thought it advisable, to try to obtain it for them, to put the matter into his hands as he could manage it better than any one else and especially as he had the trust company affair to handle. Tom replied that this course had been in his mind from the first, but he wanted to be certain that Mr. Benton approved of the project before anything was said about it, even to his father.

Mr. Benton wrote Mr. Hadley at considerable length, describing the township —the great growth upon it of pine, spruce, cedar and hard wood—the drainage from the ponds being through a channel under a ridge made by the water—the great probability of this channel being so enlarged as to allow the passage of lumber and wood through it from the lot —what Tom and Charley had learned about it from Sam, the firewarden on their camping out trip—the great benefit it would be to the boys in a business point of view, both financially and otherwise, for them to purchase it, and asked him if he thought favorable enough of the proposition to take charge of the matter of getting an act through the General Court for its sale to Tom and Charley. He further wrote that could the tract be secured for a reasonable sum—which he would leave to Mr. Hadley to determine—he would advance the money for Charley's half of it if he would do the same for Tom.

Mr. Hadley promptly replied that he was greatly pleased that Tom was taking such an interest in business matters, but he hoped that he wouldn't load himself down with so many projects that he might sink under their weight. He would counsel Tom to go slow in his ventures, he stated, but as he was under the immediate eyes of Mr. Benton and was disposed to enter into no affair or scheme which Mr. Benton didn't favor, he was more than willing to help his son in any way he could. As the legislature would convene in a few days, he said that he would go to Boston and see what could be done towards getting this measure and the trust company matter passed. This answer was very gratifying to Mr. Benton and of course to Tom and Charley.

When the legislature convened and ready for business Mr. Hadley was on hand with his bill for the incorporation of The Alderburg Trust Company, which had been drawn up by Lawyer Whiting. Every desirable provision had been written into it, including the right to acquire, hold and dispose of real and personal property. The incorporators named were Jarvis Benton, Cyrus Whiting, James Randolph, Tom Hadley, Charley Benton, John Hadley and Albert Adams.

There was in the Senate at that time a very close friend of Mr. Hadley—Mr. Lawrence Gould, who had served with him in the House. John Hadley had been Mr. Gould's right hand man when they were together as legislators. "Hello John!" was his salutation upon catching sight of him. "Mighty glad to see you. Wish you were here now with me."

"How do you do, Lawrence. I'm mighty glad to see you, too. It reminds me of old times when under your lead, we used to beat those Boston chaps."

"Ah John, those were most satisfactory times for us—not so easy now. I lack your assistance to help push things."

"Well, well, Lawrence, I don't believe you're lost your grip yet. You don't look it. Possibly it may not be quite so easy now in the Senate as it was in the House, but you get there just the same, I have no doubt."

"No, John, I haven't quite lost my grip, yet. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Yes Lawrence, for once I'd like something I'm personally interested in that no one but you can pull off for me."

"What is that, John? I'll pull off my coat for you any time for anything you want done."

Thereupon Mr. Hadley told the Senator of the two measures he would like to have pushed through the General Court for the benefit of his son, Tom, and his close friend, Charley Benton, son of the magnate of Alderburg, Mr. Jarvis Benton. Gould said he had heard of Mr. Benton, who was a great worker for their side in public affairs. The trust company project, he declared would go through without much trouble, but the other proposition would require some sharp engineering, he imagined, but he would see what could be done. He did so and reported to Mr. Hadley that he had seen the state treasurer and ascertained that the township had in fact been twice advertised for sale, with no bidders and he thought that an act for its sale at five thousand dollars—fifty cents an acre—the old price for state lands considered unit for settlement and cultivation—might pass the legislature and be signed by the governor. This was very satisfactory to Mr. Hadley for he expected that the price would be at least twice that sum. Gould introduced a bill on the terms he had proposed and also an act for the incorporation of the trust company. Mr. Hadley having seen the two acts well started, returned to their proper committees and in good hands, returned home.

In due time both measures passed the General Court and were signed by the

This was very satisfactory to Mr. Hadley for he expected that the price would be at least twice that sum. Gould introduced a bill on the terms he had proposed and also an act for the incorporation of the trust company. Mr. Hadley having seen the two acts well started, referred to their proper committees and in good hands, returned home.

In due time both measures passed the General Court and were signed by the

W. C. NOYES

Governor, Hon. William C. Noyes, one of the best business chief executives the old Bay State had ever had. He was not only a man of fine executive ability, but one whose public and private life was without a stain. He was born down in Maine. Mr. Hadley sent his check for the deed to the State treasurer and it was forwarded to him with an official copy of the act incorporating the trust company. These he mailed to Mr. Benton with a letter stating that he should charge nothing for his expenses and that through Mr. Gould's engineering of the measures there were no lobby fees to be paid. Mr. Benton promptly replied, inclosing his check for $2,500 and complimenting him highly for having done the business so satisfactorily. Tom wrote his father a most affectionate letter, stating how proud he was to have such a parent and how grateful he and Charley were for what he had done for them. He wrote that he was certain that no one else could have secured the township for them and that it laid the foundation for both their fortunes of which he felt very certain. He wanted his father and Mr. Benton to see the tract in the spring and closed by saying that he desired his father to keep in close touch with him so that he could advise and counsel him in all matters of moment and subscribed himself as his father's most affectionate and dutiful son.

John Hadley's heart was deeply touched at Tom's message. To be appreciated at last by his son was the crowning joy of his life. He had come to thoroughly understand his boy and Tom to understand and appreciate him and henceforth there was to be no distrust between son and father. He had procured for Tom the greatest desire of his son's heart, next to his sweetheart, and Tom's joy and gratitude was so great that it swept away every vestige of estrangement and compensated him for all the disappointment and pain he had ever experienced.

The next time Sam came to town, after Tom and Charley had acquired the lot on which his camp was situated he was informed of what had been done, but was assured that he would not be disturbed in his occupancy. He had surmised, however, that there must be some scheme they had in their minds to buy the lot and get the timber on it out to market and when this was begun his happy hunting days there would be over. Yet this did not make him feel sad at heart, for he had begun, if the truth must here be told, to cherish the hope that a smart boy's mother, whom he had constantly visited and brought to her wild game he had shot and other substantial things, might bless him as his helpmeet at his home on his little farm.

The Alderburg Trust Company was afterwards organized by constituting all the incorporators as directors and they chose Jarvis Benton, President, John Hadley, First Vice President, Jones Randolph, 2nd Vice President, Charley Benton, Treasurer, Tom Hadley, Secretary and Cyrus Whiting, Attorney. It was not intended for the company to go immediately into business as Charley and Tom were not ready for that and it had no place as yet that was suitable for their purpose to do business in. In a talk with them about it Mr. Benton inquired whether they had formed any plans to procure such a building that could be fitted up for their business. Tom said he had an eye on a certain store in the right locality, not too far away from the bank, which in his opinion would soon be for sale.

"Ah, the Curtis store," said Mr. Benton.

"Yes sir," replied Tom, "I've kept tabs on the way business has been done there, and I think Curtis will try to obtain another loan from Arnold, which I don't believe he'll get. And if he must give up his grocery business, what position could be got for him. I couldn't think of profiting by his misfortune unless he obtained a better job. What kind of a fellow would he be to take my place as expressman, Mr. Benton?"

"First rate, I think. I have known of course that you would in time, have to give up your present position and I couldn't settle in my own mind who there was here to take your place—I hadn't thought of Curtis of course, as I knew nothing about his affairs—and had about concluded that the company would have to send a man here to take charge of the business, but if Asher Curtis should want the job, there will be no trouble, I think in his getting it."

"I'm glad Mr. Benton, you think Curtis would be a suitable person to take my place for it removes a great depression from my mind since I'm sure he will have to go out of his present business."

The winter passed without incident or interest of importance to the parties with whom this narrative is concerned, and as the springtime approached Mr. Benton had been anxious to see the lot Charley and Tom had acquired, and was only waiting for the snow to go off and settled going, to look it over. He wanted Mr. Hadley also to see it with him and upon his willingness to accompany him to the tract. One Saturday afternoon of a pleasant day, Tom went to Lakeport for his father and mother for a visit to himself and sister at Mrs. Morton's, she being only too glad to entertain them, on Tom's and Bessie's account. While Tom was gone Bob, as usual, had charge of the express office.

On the way back from Lakeport, Tom pointed out to his parents the places, which had been of principal interest to him, on his hike through the country. It was at the twilight hour as they passed the Benton place, which was greatly admired by Mr. Hadley and his wife for its fine situation, it's commodious looking buildings and their architectual beauty.

The elder Hadleys found Mrs. Morton an admirable hostess, who was so profuse in her praises of Tom and Bessie that she at once won their hearts. Mr. Hadley took a great liking to Bob, who made himself very agreeable to that gentleman during his stay in Alderburg, and before he returned home he complimented Mrs. Morton on her having such a fine boy, who, he declared, was sure to make a name for himself. "He reminds me of my Tom at his age," he had said. And to this she had replied that it was not strange, for Tom was his hero and his character and aspirations were being formed by her son, "And the peculiar thing about it was," she said, "that Bob was determined to be a lawyer and Tom was encouraging him in it."

"What! What!" exclaimed Mr. Hadley in great astonishment. "Well! Well, Mrs. Morton! I'm surprised at that for he wouldn't fit himself for one." To this she replied:

"Robert attended the trial of the burglars and when he saw how Tom beat their attorney on his cross examination, he came home and told me that he was going to be a lawyer."

"Promising boy—promising boy, madam. When he gets ready to practice law, there'll be an opening for him over at Lakeport."

"That's very good of you, Mr. Hadley, to say that, and it will be a great encouragement to Robert,'" she replied.

At the Sunday services at the Unitarian church, Mr. and Mrs. Hadley sat in the Morton pew. They had entered rather late and were not observed by Mr. and Mrs. Benton. They were charmed with the singing and greatly liked the sermon. After the benediction Maude went to them and after her greeting, introduced her folks and the minister to them. Mr. Hadley said to Mr. Raymond that his sermon was an excellent one, which pleased the reverend gentleman very much.

Mr. Benton stated to Mr. Hadley that it was the custom for the choir to eat their Sunday dinners at his home and he and his wife would be pleased to have all of the three families with them at that time, and this was assented to. As they could not all ride at one time in his car, Charley took the ladies home first, and then returned for the others.

The two elder gentlemen had in the meantime engaged in conversation over the preacher's sermon and the singing. Mr. Hadley was full of his praises of both the preacher and especially, remarking that the Golden Rule was being regarded more and more as a bond of faith with all the best preachers of the Gospel. To this Mr. Benton emphatically assented. They had learned through Tom that their general views of public affairs were the same. Each saw in the other a person of superior qualities and since they were to be somewhat connected in business relations through their children, they felt drawn to each other with the greatest satisfaction.

The matrons, too, on their arrival at the Benton home had a love feast. There was much satisfaction expressed at their having been brought together through their children, which of course were declared to be the very best in the world.

Mrs. Benton declared that Betty was just the best one Charley could have for a wife, and Mrs. Morton, in turn, enlarged upon Charley being the handsomgentlemen of the town, and it was no wonder that Betty had lost her heart to him, and she said she was very proud of Betty's choice for her future husband. What Mrs. Benton and Mrs. Hadley said to each other about Tom and Maude has not been reported, but there is not the least doubt that it was of the most satisfactory character.

After dinner Mr. Benton took Mr. Hadley around his premises. The latter was much impressed with the appearance of neatness and thrift that was every where to be seen, and he greatly admired the fine view which he declared was one of the very best he had ever seen. When they returned to the house Mr. Benton said that they must have some music of a lighter character than was usual at church, and the quartette sang several selections to the great gratification of the listeners, among which were: "In a Little Spanish Town", "My Old New Hampshire Home", "Where the Silvery Colorado Wends Its Way", "Under the Shade of the Old Apple Tree", and "Don't You Remember". Mr. and Mrs. Hadley now realized as they had never before, how much Tom had come to be in the social affairs of Alderburg.

After taking Mrs. Morton, with the Hadleys home, Charley took a ride with Betty out into the country. She told him that he and Tom were very fortunate to have two such goods backers as his father and Mr. Hadley, but Charley said that he and Tom had ability to accomplish things, which their fathers had not shown any capacity for, and when they got the trust company to running, and a way to get the timber out from their lot people would see what he and Tom were really made of. "Ah, Charley," she said to tease him, "What could you do without Tom? He is the brains of everything you and he do."

"And what could he do without me, Bet? To be sure he plans, but he relies upon me to approve and help carry them out. What he lacks, I supply, and what I lack he has. Don't you see how we fit in together?"

"Guess you have scored once more, Charley, but you know its the money that makes the mare go, as the saying is, and you two must have it to start on and your fathers have got it and are ready to help you with it."

"Yes, that is true, Betty. No two young men ever had better fathers. Tomorrow I take them up to the lot to see what they think if it."

CONGREGATIONAL MEN'S CLUB UNDERWAY

Chas. W. Bowker, chairman of the supper committee prepared an oyster stew flanked with pies, doughnuts, cheese, pickles and coffee, which was served at 6:45 to the accompaniment of orchestral music.

Rev. Rensel H. Colby, pastor of the church, who was at the head of things introduced the guest speaker, Rev. L. A. Edwards, pastor of the Bethel Congregational church. The speaker was rushed for time and had only fifteen minutes before the departure of the train for home, so crowded an address into a vest pocket edition of his subject "What Are you Worth?". He said the chemists' appraisal of a man according to present market quotations is $20. As a community asset his potential worth cannot be stated in dollars and cents. Men are needed in the church and the group idea solves the problem of getting work done. The remarks punctuated with wit were to the point and inspiring.

The exercises which followed might be called an informal blending of songs, banter, orchestral music, more stew, remarks and business. Clarence Huff played two trumpet solos; the crowd sang Kiwanian songs and the orchestra tuned up with popular selections. This musical team included Mrs. Ida Neal, piano, Miss Dorothy Dean, violin, Howard Shaw, clarinet, James Mason trombone, and Clarence Huff, trumpet.

Another guest, who denied being on hand as a speaker was Rev. Christian Groezinger of the Norway Congregational church. He believed in the club plan for men and wants to revive the Ride-out Club in his church.

The business session started with the report of the nominating committee appointed at the first meeting some months ago. Stanley M. Wheeler, chairman, and referred to during the evening as 'the Senator", read his report of nominees who were elected on a single ballot as follows:

Pres.—Ralph R. Butts.
Vice Pres.—Frank Goldsmith.
Sec.-Treas.—Roy Small.

Members of committees were nominated from the floors and elected as follows:

Supper—Chas. W. Bowker, Robert Wise, Edward Shaw, Herbert Woodworth and Earle Clifford.

Music—Howard Shaw, chairman.

Executive Com.—Officers, Chairmen and Heads of Committees.

By-Laws—Harry M. Shaw, Dr. D. M. Stewart, Edward Woodbury, Irving O. Barrows, and Harry Brown.

As an introduction after supper, Mr. Colby explained the aims and purposes of a Men's Club in this church. Sociability will have a prominent place with monthly suppers and gatherings, but the main object is to become a community force for righteousness and to stand behind the pastor in his church work. He said the club will not be a target for over-solicitation in financial matters. With the spirit of fellowship and usefulness, that matter should take care of itself. Mr. Colby emphasized the need of acting as big brothers to boys in need of church influences, especially should efforts be made to encourage habitual church attendance.

After adjournment indoor baseball was enjoyed by sport fans while those less active in the game cleared the tables and washed dishes.

Making the Strand Theatre ready for sound pictures is progressing with prospects good for opening by the first of the year, possibly by Christmas. The ceiling has been covered with a non-combustable material and a new perforated screen is in front of the loud speaker placed in the alcove built on the outside of the building. Machines from the General Talking Picture Corporation are ready to be installed and attached to the cables already in place. The theatre has been closed about a year, but some of the business men have been instrumental in perfecting arrangements for the change from "silent" to sound pictures.

Rev. Ernest C. Partridge, for thirty years a missionary to the Armenians in Turkey and Russia, spoke at the Congregational church, Sunday morning. His story of the Near East Relief Work was presented in three settings or word pictures of activities in orphanages for Armenian children, where manual training and other useful arts are a part of the religious schooling. Early next year the speaker will return to his field of labor and again take up the work of teaching a practical gospel to Armenians and Turks.

Erlon Noyes was severely shaken up Friday afternoon when the Triangle oil Truck he was driving skidded on the icy road near Riverside cemetery annex. The truck crashed into a pole and rebounded across the road, throwing off the empty tank. Mr. Noyes was hurled to the ground and for a time it was believed several bones were broken. The truck was wrecked and may not be repaired.

The fair given by the ladies of the Congregational church on Thursday was a success. There was a sale during the afternoon with a play in the evening, "The Two Christmas Boxes". Friday at 6:30, a supper was served and the "Congo Belles" entertained during the evening. This was a female minstrel show with a circle of vocalists. Mrs. Sarah Parlin was middle man with Mrs. Margaret Bowker, Miss Caroline Hall, Mrs. Harriette Barnes and Mrs. Nellie Andrews playing ends. There were jokes, old and new, some about the songs with emphasis on 'old" and a lively solo dance by Miss Hall. Mrs. Andrews' accordian solo, a-la-cat was a wailing sonnet, entitled, "Midnight Melodies". A male quartette, Messrs. Colby, Bolster, Titus and Churchill, was well received. The show closed with the "Jonesville Sewing Circle", that directed attention to what our wives may be up to on a busy afternoon.

Musical Clubs to Present Operetta—Junior Party

The Musical Clubs of Norway High will present a varied program at the ... Hall, Thursday, January 15. One of the ... parts of the entertainment will be the one act operetta, "Lady Frances." The "Norway High Revelers" the new eight-piece orchestra, will be featured on the program and will also furnish music for the dance following.

About thirty-five members of the Commercial Club had a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Adeline D. Klein, last Monday night. A very enjoyable evening was spent with games and stunts. Prizes were given to stunt winners. After the refreshments, a Christmas tree was enjoyed. With each present was a little verse that was read aloud to the group and caused much laughter.

Albert Lafrance won the O. G. A. certificate for proficiency in shorthand for the month of November.

Norman Greenlaw gave a demonstration before the Home Economics students on the proper preparation of birds.

The University of Maine is sponsoring a scholarship contest to be held in the spring. They have accepted the invitation of Norway High School to hold the Oxford County division here.

The Junior Party was held Thursday night in the gym. A large number attended. Refreshments were served during intermission. Many games were enjoyed, the High School Revelers furnishing the music.

The junior high school presented the two act operetta, "Twilight Alley" on Thursday evening, at Norway Grange Hall, which was well filled. The high school orchestra gave excellent selections before the curtain and between the acts. The story was laid in "The Court of the Old Shoe," in Twilight Alley in a large city, so-called because it was always so dark from the black smoke that settled down from the many chimneys. The singing by the choruses of both boys and girls was excellent, and made a fine evening's entertainment. The operetta was under the direction of Miss Josephine Rand.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fletcher are located at Sarasota, Fla., for the present and expect to remain there for some time. They are having a wonderful time.

Mrs. William Huff has gone to Lewiston to spend Christmas and the week end with relatives. She is making her home with her son, Charles Huff, and family.

Miss Agnes J. Beal and Mrs. Annie Howe of Allston, Mass., have sold a piece of land on Cottage street to Norman T. Greenlaw. The land adjoins his lumber yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin McKeen of North Lovell, Catherine and Lucille Woods of South Paris and Kenneth Aldrich took dinner, Sunday, at Mr. and Mrs. Frank McAllister's.

Weekly excursion rates to Portland from Friday until Monday that are in force on the Grand Trunk during the summer, have been extended until the last week in January.

Mrs. Heman Woodman (Ruth Akers) and Miss Mary Jones will arrive from Philadelphia, Wednesday, for Christmas with their parents. They are making the trip part way by train and part by bus.

There are no spiritual meetings in Norway this week, and from now on there will be no more meetings in the American Legion or G. A. R. Halls. Circles are held by Mr. Libbie at Mrs. Kneeland's, Skillings Avenue, South Paris, every Wednesday and Friday evenings. Arrangements will be made for circles in Norway after this week.

Rev. C. B. Rheiner went to Holliston, Mass., Tuesday, where he is due to speak before a Sunday school group at the Holliston Congregational Church, and also to give an entertainment to the poor children of the city, which he has done in previous years. Mrs. Rheiner and her aunt, Miss Edith Anderson, go to Wakefield, Wednesday afternoon, where they will meet Mr. Rheiner and spend Christmas with her parents in Wakefield, returning home Thursday night.
